

2 BIG silver rings

Posted by dirtdigger1581 - 2012/08/04 21:25

I'm posting one old find and one from today. The first one I found last month on the 13th of July and never got around to posting. It's a giant silver ring weighing in at 15.21g. It looks like a custom made ring to me. A friend of mine suggested it might be Indian Silver. I love the turquoise stones in the middle. I still haven't forgotten the sound of that one clanging around in the scoop.

Second ring I found today. It was the first target I dug on the day. Got it way out in chest deep water. This one has a class ring style to it, but I don't recognize any of the characters on it. Weighs a whopping 13.61g. Anyone recognize any of the characters? I could use some help with the ID on this one.

The rest of the hunt wasn't too productive, but was a great day to spend in the water. Hope everyone is finding their treasures!!

Happy Hunting!

-Nate

Turns out it's a Muslim Allah ring. Middle Eastern indeed.
